SCHOOLS AND NATIONS COME TOGETHER: STUDENTS AS YOUNG DIPLOMATS!

Southbridge hosted our first ever inter-school Model United Nations this year, with schools from all over Phnom Penh coming to participate. Our theme was “Echoes of the Past and Challenges of the Future,” and it invited us to pause and reflect on an important truth: the world we inherit is shaped by the decisions of those who came before us, and the world we leave behind will be shaped by the decisions we make today.

Our children stand at a unique moment in history. Never before has a generation been so connected, so informed, and so capable of influencing global change. At the same time, never before have the challenges been so complex.

Climate change tests our responsibility to future generations. Rapid technological advancement raises questions about ethics, privacy, and equality. Conflicts continue to displace communities, while economic and social inequalities challenge stability across the globe. The future does not present simple problems – and therefore it cannot be solved with simple answers.

This is where Model United Nations becomes more than just an academic exercise. As Head of School, I was proud to see students stepping into roles that required critical thinking, cultural awareness, and moral responsibility. These are the skills that define global citizens. And global citizenship is no longer optional; it is essential.

Ms. Louisa Condorelli, Head of School

Adventures and Beyond - Early Years Field Trips! 🌟

Our Early Years students stepped out of the classroom for an unforgettable week of field trips! These excursions helped to bring our IEYC units to life, fostering independence, curiosity, and social skills through hands-on exploration.

From navigating new environments to collaborating with peers, our students proved that the external world is really the best classroom!

Early Years Team

Celebrating language, confidence, and academic excellence at our Khmer Public Speaking Competition.

Our Secondary Years students demonstrated their knowledge, Khmer language skills, and confidence through a friendly and inspiring competition filled with outstanding performances.

Congratulations to all participants for their courage and dedication, and a special applause to our winners for their remarkable achievements. We are proud of every student who contributed to preserving and promoting the Khmer language through their learning and passion.

SISC RAISES OVER $10,000 FOR THE CAMBODIAN CHILDREN'S FUND

Southbridge International School Cambodia (SISC) successfully raised more than $10,000 to benefit the Cambodian Children's Fund (CCF). This generous donation supports crucial educational resources and community development projects throughout Cambodia.

This effort reflects SISC's ongoing commitment to social responsibility. Our partnership with CCF is a powerful way to make a lasting difference in the lives of children and vulnerable communities across Cambodia. It also teaches our own students the true value of community welfare, and that they have the power to impact the world around them.
